Signature DISHES Compiled by Michelle Tchea

What is a chef's signature dish? It's the recipe that defines them – that tells the world about their taste, their flavour combination and their true passion. It's the heart of every chef's restaurant, their café and their home. It can come from their mother or grandmother, or come to them in the middle of the night.

It's their piece de resistance, their signature.

In this book Michelle Tchea captures over 80 recipes from leading chefs, all over Australia.

Here are the leading restaurateurs, and best selling cookbook authors, in one tantalizing volume. It includes Adam D'Slyva, Guy Grossi, Michael Moore, John McLeay, Tobie Puttock and more.

PUB DATE: MAY 2012

PRICE: $29.95

FORMAT: HARDBACK

From John McLeay's Pork Belly with Apple Slaw and Chilli Caramel to Tobie Puttock's Grilled Peaches with Caramelised Brioche, each chef explains how and why they were inspired to call this recipe their signature dish, and includes photographs for each one.

For further information contact

Christine Roberts
02 8986 4705
christine@newholland.com.au

An inspirational walk through the culinary greats.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR:

Victorian -based Michelle Tchea is an entertaining food and travel host, a writer and photographer. Her background is in research, development and product innovation in food and beverages and she has written for national and international publications on travel, food and health.

Michelle grew up in her grandfather's chinese restaurant in Orange County, USA, making dumplings and breathing in the life of a cook and chef. She currently works with an international list of chefs from Europe and Asia in developing menus, seeking out new trends and promoting restaurants to audiences who appreciate fine food and wine. She is the owner of her own cake emporium-Cutie Pi - specialising in delicious cakes and desserts.

